The agreement will create opportunity to capacitate the urban sector professionals in Education, Training and Consultancy and conduct research that resolve urban related problems.

Ato Mesfin AssefaState Minister of Ministry of Urban Development and Engineering

Dr. Lema GudissaAcademic Vice President of Ethiopian
Civil Service University

In the signing ceremony, Ato Mesfin Assefa, State Minister of Ministry of Urban Development and Engineering said the signing of the MOU would advance the already existing cooperation between ECSU and MoUDC. Ato Mesfin further said the Center of Excellence is believed to be a technical hand of the Ministry in its effort to realize the development of complimentary, prosperous and internationally competitive urban centres, which are centres of development, models of democracy, generate development and deliver efficient services to their inhabitants and ensure their liveability through plan led development. Ato Mesfin also said given the vast experience of the University in Urban sector in long and short term trainings, consultancy and researches, it would be an opportunity for us to work with the University.

Dr. Lema Gudissa, Academic Vice President of Ethiopian Civil service University, welcomed the attendees of the signing of MOU to the event which he described as "historic ". Dr Lema said that City's role in a country's economic, social and political development is immense and we are committed to develop the capacity of the urban sector so as to contribute the country's urban development vision. Dr. Lema thanked the ministry for recognizing the university's efforts and selected it as center of excellence in Urban development and Construction sector. Dr. Lema finally said, "we take this as an opportunity and aligned it to our vision of becoming a center of excellence in East Africa in public sector capacity building."

Dr. Daniel Lirebo, Dean of College of Urban development and Engineering (CUDE), expressed the college's commitment to uphold the stipulated ideas in the MOU as the University is experienced in urban development sector. Dr. Daniel said since its establishment some 60 years a go by French and Ethiopian Government by the name Ecol, the college has put its footprint in urban development of the country. Dr. Daniel also said, " with Eight Post Graduate and Four Under Graduate programs and committed professors, we will realize the center of excellence in the urban sector".

Ato Birhanu Teshome, Head of Urban Good Governance and Capacity Building Bureau in the Ministry said that they want the center of excellence to be knowledge storage for urban development. According to Ato Birhanu, the ministry earmarked 40 Million birr every year for capacity building in the 10 pillars of the University.

HOLDS CURRICULUM VALIDATION WORKSHOP

Ethiopian Civil Service University School of Law and Federalism (SLF) held a curriculum validation workshop on two new masters programs; Master of Laws (LLM) Degree in Criminal Law and Justice and Master of Laws (LLM) Degree in Comparative Business Law on October 10, 2019 at Diplomacy Hall. The curriculums of these programs were presented for validation at the presence of academia, stakeholders and invited participants.

In his opening address on the validation workshop of the curriculum, Dr. Tesfaye Abate, Dean of College of Leadership and Governance said that SLF is striving best to capture the objective realities to assist the implementation of policies with the intention of brining about sustainable development. In order to bring about sustainable development, education plays a key role. Business also plays its important role in the development of every citizen and country at large. By taking this into consideration, business needs to be regulated by law. In this regard, the courses in newly developed curriculum in Comparative Business Law will contribute to bring the intended results. In the other way, development cannot be realized in the absence of human right and when people feel their rights are violated. For this, the courses in curriculum of Criminal Law and Justice Program contribute significantly by expanding knowledge in the area, Dr. Tesfaye underscored. He also requested the participants to actively participate in the workshop and forward their invaluable comments and suggestion for the development of the curriculums.

On the workshop the curriculum development committee presented the draft curriculum of each program for validation. According to Mussie Mezgebo, Head, School of Law & Federalism, Ethiopian Civil Service University, the University has the vision of becoming a leading center of excellence by 2025 in Africa. Within this vision, the School of Law and Federalism aims to be a center of excellence by 2025. As part of this vision and a renewed commitment to support the Ethiopian justice sectors, the School is working to make its educational service more relevant and problem-solving. Among others, the New Curriculum Development in Criminal Law and Justice, and Comparative Business Law are part of the larger vision of the ECSU and SLF to be a leading center of excellence by 2025, Mussie noted. From the explanation of the presenters it is learnt that each program will have a total of 120 ECTs and takes two years of duration for completion.

The external reviewers gave a wide-ranging comments and suggestions on thematic and technical matters for the improvement of both draft curriculums. Participants of the work shop on their part also forwarded their ideas and comments that can further develop the draft curriculums.

TCD GIVES TRAINING FOR THE CONSULTANTS AND DIRECTORS

Training Coordination Directorate gave 40 hours training for the consultants of the Centers from September 07-10, 2019 at Debrezeit Management Institute. All the consultants and directors of the centers and directorates under training and consultancy division participated.

W/ro Eden Bushira Director of TCD said that the training is aimed at filling the gap of the consultant, build the capacity of each trainer and introduce the new work environment. Besides it can create team sprit among the trainers and working together eagerly to meet the vision of the university.

The training has been designed to meet the requirements of trainers looking to improve their training skills to become a great workplace trainer. It covers all aspects of the art of training from learning theories as well as effective assessment methods, training material development, competency based training and case file development to ensure all the consultants be successful in delivering the training.

As a center of training, we will totally shift our training methods in to competency based training. After completeing the training course, our trainees will have the skills and knowledge requied to complete specific workplace activities in their working environment and situation. Also update our trainers in different areas in the future to cope up with the new methods of delivering training W/ro Eden underscored.

CUMTTC HOLDS DISCUSSION ON 2012 EC ANNUAL PLAN

Ethiopian Civil Service University Center for Urban Management and Transformation Training and Consultancy Staff Held half day discussion on 2019/20 academic year annual plan on September 23, 2019 at Training Hall. All the staff members of the Center participated on the programs.

On the discussion Ato Gebretensay Tesfay Center for Urban Management and Transformation Training and Consultancy Director presented their office annual work plan for 2019/20 academic year. Based on their presentation the staff conducted an extensive discussion on the plan and forwarded comments included in the final draft.

Ato Gebretensay Tesfay said that it is important to strengthen our efforts and work hard and stand together to achieve our goals. This plan is cascaded based on the university's plan and by evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of last year plan performance of the center. It is compulsory to implement the plan and work with great effort more than ever to fully implement the plan and realize Ethiopian Civil Service University's vision to become center of excellence in Africa by 2025. To make the plan effective the center will evaluate support and follow up each step and will give the feedback. Besides staff members report their progress in each step on time he underscored.

CUDE TO LAUNCH EW UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

Ethiopian Civil Service University College of Urban Development and Engineering (CUDE) to launch two new undergraduate programs: BSc in Transport Planning and Engineering and BSc in Real Property Valuation. The curriculums of these programs were presented for validation on August 28, 2019 at Hiddasse Hall, at the presence of academia, stakeholders and invited participants.

In his key note address, Dr. Daniel Lirebo, Dean of College of Urban Development and Engineering said that the launching of these programs has an important role to fill the gaps existing in the areas and contributes towards public servants capacity building for sustainable economic growth in order to achieve the vision and mission of ECSU as articulated in its legislation. According to him Transport and Traffic Engineering and Planning and Real Property Valuation are serious problems in urban centres of Ethiopia. An important driver of these new curriculums has been the attempt to focus more explicitly on the outcomes of building the capacity of public servants to make a better fit between the knowledge, skills and competence obtained by graduates and the industry. For these reasons, this validation workshop is believed to look closely at how curriculums can create effective link between teaching, learning, research and how to benefit concerned stakeholders, ministers and regional bureaus Dr. Daniel noted.

Dr. Daniel Lirebo, Dean of College of Urban Development and Engineering

Dr. Daniel expressed his thanks to Department of Urban Transport and Infrastructure Provision and Management and Department of Housing and Real Estate Property Valuation and the organizers of the workshop. He also extended his thanks to external reviewers, stakeholders and participants on the workshop.

Dr. Belew Dagnew Vice Dean of College of Urban Development and Engineering

Dr. Belew Dagnew, Vice Dean of College of Urban Development and Engineering on his part said, "rapid growth of urbanization induced by growing mobility demands for swift transportation system in the country. The rising car fleet in cities has increased congestion, number of accidents and environmental deterioration. So this draft curriculum endeavours to fill this niche by equipping students with relevant transportation management skills, said Dr. belew.

On the workshop the curriculum committees presented the draft curriculum of each program for validation. According to the committees, BSc program in Transport Planning and Engineering has a total of 297 ECTs / 171 Credit house and takes

The external reviewers Dr. Bikila Teklu and Dr. Berhanu W/Teensaye from Addis Ababa University and Dr. Lemessa Bayissa, Dean of College of Finance Management and Development, ECUS, gave detailed comments and suggestions for further improvement of the draft curriculum. Participants on their part thanked the university for taking the initiative to launch these new and timely programs and forwarded their comments and suggestions on different issues related to the programs.
